

Adult Ed in Action- Dorcas Shumake, Adult Education Instructor

[Music]

...world where we focus on trauma so much. Um, and it's real and it happens to all of us. It's good to see that in spite of people's traumas and the things that they've been through, they made a decision to come back, and that shows a lot of resilience and a lot of grit.

And so, um, I've learned from them just, you know, adults, not, you know, 18-year-olds, good and grown adults with lives. They've shown me that, um, when you set your mind to something, that is absolutely possible.

It's one of the best things about working in adult ed is that when you look at adults who've lived and decided, "I want to go back," and they do it, it's a testimony of just how, um, a made-up mind really does change the course of your life.

[Laughter]

[Music]

